What to do about Fleet? Car Allowance vs. Fleet Analysis ... HELP!!

Presented by
Jennifer Steinmetz-Hurst
Ferring Pharmaceuticals

Since 2019, there has been a supply chain shortage that has affected our nation. One specific supply chain area that has been gaining a lot of attention and is becoming painful for companies of all sizes is fleet programs.

More and more compliance professionals are hearing fleet programs talked about during their workday – in fact, sometimes finding themselves responsible for, or through interactions with co-workers responsible for, fleet management programs.

Whatever the level of involvement, it is no surprise that there is excessive time and attention needed for all the administrative compliance responsibilities while constantly being cognizant of the varying situations with supply chain logistics, fuel consumption, and rising costs with prices changing daily.

During this workshop, we will talk about fleet management challenges, focusing primarily on the pros and cons of car allowances vs. fleet vehicles. Whether you are curious to know more, or need to know more now, this is a hot topic that you will be glad you explored further.
