The Sharing Alliance is pleased to welcome back industry experts Joe Cacciatore and Sean Hickson to this year's Sharing Conference. Many Alliance members will remember their impactful presentations during our Short Course on Field Compliance Monitoring several years ago.

The focus of this upcoming workshop will be to provide an overview of OIG's recently issued Special Fraud Alert associated with Speaker Programs. It will highlight the rationale behind this alert, talk about certain risk characteristics of Speaker Programs, and offer key considerations for pharma and device manufacturers to execute these programs with a reduced risk profile.

In addition, there will be a discussion on how pharmaceutical and device manufacturers can effectively monitor and oversee these activities that can help enhance compliance program effectiveness.

There will be allotted time for a Q&A session.
