FDA Update: The Drug Supply Chain Security Act

The Sharing Alliance™ is pleased to announce that Kristina Donohue and Karen Rothschild from FDA's Office of Compliance, Center for Drug Evaluation and Research, will be providing an update on the Drug Supply Chain Security Act (DSCSA) at next month's Sharing Conference™.

As the phased-in implementation is progressing quickly towards the full-implementation date in 2023, CAPT Donohue and Ms. Rothschild will be discussing the requirements in DSCSA as they stand today, and FDA's ongoing implementation efforts with an eye towards the future.

Attendees will also learn about current policy positions and FDA's evolving implementation and enforcement activities.

Time will be allotted for Q&A discussion. Questions will be taken during the presentation or may be submitted in advance of the session. Details on how to send in anonymous questions before the conference will be emailed to registered attendees next week before the holiday weekend.

The Sharing Conference is less than
ONE MONTH AWAY - don't miss out!

WITH COMPLIANCE

This year's conference theme - Connecting Commercial Operations with Compliance - was created to address the relationship between commercial operations activities and the compliance factor.

We invite you to take a look at how compliance connects with many aspects of commercial operations, including State Regulations, Auditing and Monitoring, Legal and Ethics, and more.
