WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENT

The Importance of High-Quality Investigative Reports

Presented by
Steve Haynes
Director of Operations
The Sharing Alliance™

It is easy for an outstanding compliance investigation to be de-railed by less than outstanding report documentation. How do you ensure a thorough and often complex investigation is properly documented?

This workshop will cover investigative report fundamentals, common reporting writing pitfalls, legal considerations, and government expectations. Through discussion, sharing of ideas and questions, and review of case examples and sample report templates, this workshop will give attendees an excellent understanding of how high-quality investigative reports should look.

As Alliance Director of Operations, Steve brings over 40 years of experience and enthusiasm to the Alliance board. He retired from FDA's Office of Criminal Investigations in 1999 as Special Agent in Charge of their Investigative Operations Division. In the years since, he has worked closely with pharmaceutical clients and the Sharing Alliance™ on a wide range of corporate compliance matters, from investigations, regulatory compliance, and litigation support services, to federal court testimony as an expert witness on PDMA law.
