Healthcare organizations are using cloud technology now more than ever to help empower teams to provide the best possible care.

Join industry professionals Lisa Butler and Phil Eng as they come together for this lively look at a topic that affects many of us. They'll talk about examples of virtual health and care team collaboration, virtual visits and more.

Attendees will learn how cloud-based systems have the ability to empower customers to build a connected health ecosystem that provides insights to improve health outcomes, reduce the cost of care, and enable healthier lives. Time will be spent sharing challenges and the crucial need for new compliance solutions for our industry.

So, do you have concerns about secure and compliant cloud functions? Do you have a challenging cloud-based scenario you can share for discussion? Send in your anonymous questions in advance and we'll share them with our speakers. Then get ready for this informative and very well-timed discussion!
